Simple searching is useful for finding module reading lists if you know the module code. Module codes can be found on the timetable and class handouts. For example, the module code for Irish Church History is CTM204. Typing this in and searching lists the resources for this module.

Search tips

Think about the following:

- Plan and record your searches to avoid timewasting repetition.
- Identify keywords and related terms to do with the topic you are looking for information on. Use a thesaurus to help, e.g. Gospels - Matthew, Mark, Luke, synoptic etc. When you start typing a keyword into the search box, a word list will appear which you can select a relevant term from by highlighting it with your mouse, or using the arrow keys and pressing return to search. To close the word list press 'Esc.'
- Think about how the terms can be linked together within the search as well. Different ways of combining keywords with AND, OR and AND NOT retrieve different results.
- Search for synonyms, e.g. death, deceased, passing, etc.
- Alternative spellings, e.g. honor or honour, neighbor or neighbour. You can use * in the place of the letters which may vary. E.g. hon*r retrieves results with both honor and honour.
- Variations in root words, prefixes, suffixes and plurals. Truncation can be used if you want to find all words related to the root word. This is when you use a symbol to replace letters at the end or beginning of words, e.g. lead* returns lead, leads, leading, leader, leaders, leadership. On Heritage * is used to replace one or more consecutive characters. This is useful if you want to search for an author with a long, unusually spelt name, e.g. Ainsworth-Smith can be found by searching Ain* in the author field. Wildcards can be used to replace letters within words when there are variations in spelling, e.g. see previous point and wom?n, speciali?ed, globali?ation. On Heritage ? is used to replace a single character. Wildcards can be used at the beginning, middle or end of a word.
- Phrase searching using " " can return fewer, more accurate results. A phrase is a series of words in the order entered, with no other words between. For instance, searching for "practical theology in action" returns two results compared to six when searching for those keywords without the speech marks. This is because the search engine returns all records which include any of those keywords, in any order, when speech marks are not included.
- Use broader and narrower terms, e.g. Arianism, heresy, or Philemon, Pauline Epistle. If you get too few results you may need to widen the search by using a broader term. If your search returns too many results, which are often irrelevant, you may need to narrow it down by using a narrower term.
- To search for an item using more than one of the authors' names, separate them with AND. For instance, to search for a work by John Smith and Jane Jones, enter Smith AND Jones or Smith John AND Jones Jane or John Smith AND Jane Jones. The search phrase Smith Jones will not find the item: it will only retrieve items by authors named "Smith Jones" or "Jones Smith."
- When searching for ISBNs or ISSNs, do not include hyphens.
- If you wish to start a new search click on 'clear' below the search box or 'search' in the top left.
